

Diabetes & Vascular Disease Research

Supplements: Notes for Sponsors

Diabetes & Vascular Disease Research is delighted to publish peer-reviewed supplements focussed on topics which are relevant to its readers.

Diabetes & Vascular Disease Research is an independent, peer-reviewed scientific journal. Therefore, all supplements submitted to the journal are subject to peer-review and must meet the normal standards of "fair balance".

Submission of outline

Sponsors should submit a brief summary of the proposed supplement including:

- Name(s) and affiliation(s) of supplement editor(s)
- Outline of contents
- Proposed authors
- Disclosure of editorial support provided
- An approximate number of printed pages
- Expected date of submission of manuscripts

Where an agency or other organisation is acting on behalf of the sponsor, full contact details should be provided.

The editors will normally respond within five working days.

Submission of manuscripts

All manuscripts should conform to the Instructions to Authors which are available on the website: www.dvdres.com

On-line submission of manuscripts is available. Please consult the Instructions to Authors and contact the editorial office.

Production

All complete manuscripts must be submitted before the peer-review process can begin.

Review is normally completed within 28 working days of submission. (Note: more rapid review may be available by prior agreement with the Editors. Additional costs may be payable by the sponsor.)

Disclosure of conflicts of interest

Disclosures must be provided of any financial relationship which the authors have with the sponsoring organisation. This disclosure should appear within the text of the relevant paper in the normal manner. Any editorial support, e.g. the assistance of any medical writer(s), must be included in the preamble to the supplement.

Publication

Supplements will normally be published within 6–8 weeks of acceptance. (Note: rapid on-line publication and preprints can be arranged. Additional costs may be payable by the sponsor.)

Reprints

Reprints are available within 10 working days of publication.

Free, unrestricted on-line publication

The full contents of the supplement will be available on the journal's website www.dvdres.com at no additional charge. On-line access to the full contents of the journal, including supplements, is free and unrestricted from the time of publication.

Additional languages

Copyright licenses permitting translation into languages other than English are available. Additional language editions may also be arranged by the Publisher. Prices are available upon request.

Editorial and writing support

The journal is able to provide additional editorial services on request. All costs incurred will be payable by the sponsor.
